The Effect of Silence on Expressing the Preson's will According to The Jordanian Civil Law

*Abdul Rahman Jum'a

ABSTRACT

Expression of will is not subject to a certain form, the person shall express his will with the means that he thinks is suitable, will may be expressed explicitly or implicitly, and in both cases the actor may take a positive stand and express his will through it, the question is silence valid expression for will the motive behind this question is that the silent person is taking a negative stand without any spoken or written words or signal or any attitude that holds the does will, because if silence accompanied with expression for will with signal or writing, then we shall consider the signal or the writing as a means then to express through which the contractor will.

We tried through explaining the internal will of the contractor that he did not express in order to reach the silent person intent in relation to a certain matter.

Taking into in to consideration that silent is not a valid expression for acceptance in sonic cases.
